SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT (GRAD)

The UNC master of public administration (M.P.A.) program offers a nationally ranked leadership degree for on campus and online students. Our graduates are public service leaders who transform the communities where they work and live.

UNC M.P.A. is housed within the School of Government, which is the nation’s largest university-based training, advisory, and research organization for public officials. Our M.P.A. students work directly with expert faculty who are also guiding, educating, and consulting with local and state officials throughout North Carolina and beyond on a daily basis. Our faculty bring their work with public officials back into the classroom, where students gain experience grappling with many of the same complex and interdisciplinary challenges they will face in their public service careers.

To learn more about our top-ranked, flexible leadership degree, please see the program website.

Admission Requirements
All M.P.A. admission requirements can be found on the program website (https://mpa.unc.edu/).

Public Administration, Master's Program (M.P.A.)

Course Requirements
Coursework and requirements for the M.P.A. degree include a minimum of 45 semester hours of credit, a practicum, an applied research problem, and a final oral examination.
