The William and Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education is the University’s arm for extending credit and non-credit instruction to North Carolinians who wish to further their education in non-traditional ways.

Services provided by the Friday Center include:

- Advising and student services for non-degree undergraduate and graduate students
- Advising and student services for dual-enrolled high school students
- Exam proctoring for students enrolled in distance courses

Courses and programs (for-credit) offered by the Friday Center include:

- The Pre-Health Certificate Program, which helps students who have earned an undergraduate degree prepare for advanced study in the health professions.
- The Correctional Education Program, a partnership with the North Carolina Department of Public Safety, which enables qualified inmates in the North Carolina prison system to take correspondence and on-site courses for credit.
